Elk Point loses Ambulance service

Today is Elk Point and district's first day in almost eleven years to be without ambulance service.

Elk Point and District Ambulance Services Ltd. ceased providing service to the local area as of November 7, after being in operation since February 1984. Owner Fred Lambright visited Town Council last Monday night to announce his closing, citing the tremendous cutbacks in the health care system as the reason for discontinuing the service. Lambright expressed deep regret at the termination, but says he is unable to continue operating at a loss.

Lambright said he has contacted Alberta Health, Elk Point Hospital's administrator and Doctor Drew Ramful, explaining the situation and his decision. He has also given his staff written notice.

In order not to leave the area totally without emergency medical transport, Lambright has offered to provide dispatch, dispatching the nearest ambulance as required, until such time as the mayor and council have been able to secure an ongoing ambulance service for the area residents.

Lambright also operates an ambulance based in Tullibee Lake, which serves the Frog Lake, Fishing Lake, Onion Lake and Heinsburg areas, and this service will continue without interruption. He says that this sector of his business, which mostly transports patients to Lloydminster, is self-supporting, whereas calls in the Elk Point area have dwindled to the point where he had had only four local calls during the entire month of October, with no transfers to Edmonton to help defray operational costs, "and I can't continue to subsidize this operation with the other."

Times have changed with health care cuts. "I used to take people up to Edmonton for elective surgery, but Blue Cross only covers up to the emergency room door. Alberta Health Care covers from there on," he noted. "An ambulance has become a luxury." Patients going for elective surgery are now asked to go in private vehicles, while patients being transferred back to Elk Point from Edmonton are transported by a company which is contracted by Alberta Health Care to handle transfers for all of northern Alberta.

Lambright said he had approached Council four years ago, when he was already facing financial troubles, and was told that in no circumstances

Early Deadline

Due to the Friday, November 11 Remembrance Day holiday, deadline for all advertising and news will be at 12:00 noon on Thursday, November 10. Thank you for your cooperation.

Take time to remember

Elk Point Royal Canadian Legion Branch 151 is inviting young and old from Elk Point and surrounding areas to join with them for their Remembrance Day observances on Friday, November 11 at the Seniors' Recreation Centre. They ask that everyone be present by 10:30 a.m. to participate in the indoor parade. Wearing a poppy in remembrance of those who gave their lives for our freedom is an entrance requirement for those who attend.

Legion President Louis Verhagen urges all district residents to take time to remember the sacrifices made by those who envisioned an oppression- and discrimination-free future for Canada. Please support the Legion's endeavors by wearing a poppy and by laying a wreath in memory of those who fought to set us free. For further information, call 724-4463 (evenings) or 724-4062.

would the Town help with funding. The County of St. Paul said the same, despite the fact that St. Paul's ambulance service receives subsidies from the County, he told Council. Two years ago, he asked the Elk Point Hospital Board to become an ambulance authority. At that time, plans were in the works to have the ambulance subsidized by the municipalities it serves, however this did not come to be.

Since then, things have continued to decline. Lambricht said he needs at least 10 to 12 runs per month to keep in operation. "We still have true emergencies, which go, but the electives don't." He told Town Council it would cost $6000 to $7000 per month to subsidize the service, with the largest costs being for staff and insurance. "I don't really want to be subsidized," he told Council, "but I have no choice."

In parting, the owner of what may be the only unsubsidized private ambulance service in Alberta ruefully commented that "I was going to save the world when I started here." He is still adamant that "I will not let anyone die because of my financial problems, if I have to haul them in my own car, but I can't continue this service. I have no other resources to do that with."

Council later agreed that the situation was critical, and something must be done. A four person task force, including the mayor, Councillors Dan Povaschuk and Dave Yake, and administrator Curt Svendsen, was struck and given the job of contacting the surrounding counties to determine if they could help support subsidizing ambulance service. An ambulance is "definitely an essential service," in the view of Council, who were to hear the results of the fact-finding mission at last night's regular meeting.

Extravaganza plans

Elk Point's retail businesses are gearing up for the annual Christmas Extravaganza, scheduled for Friday, December 2, with a number of ideas put forward at last Wednesday's meeting of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce. A meeting of the merchants will be called this week to firm up plans for the always popular shopping event.

The Chamber has received only one Small Business Person nomination to date. You have until Tuesday, November 15 to submit nominations, either by mail to Box 639, Elk Point, or by fax to 724-4211. Please include your reason for nominating that person, your name and phone number.

Dave Yake, sitting in for President Victor Stepa, read a letter from Fred Lambricht of Elk Point and District Ambulance, which stated that the ambulance service to Elk Point would be terminated as of November 7. Town Council has formed a committee to find out what other communities do in regard to subsidization of ambulance service, and were scheduled to report to the November 7 meeting. Various concerns were voiced by Chamber members, including the fact that this will leave the entire oil patch without emergency medical transport. It was agreed that whatever ambulance service is obtained, will have to receive financial support.

Mayor Buck outlined the various functions of the Utilities and Development committees, the Airport Commission and the Community Services and Library boards.

The new councillors were invited to tour the Town's facilities, such as the water treatment plant and sewer lift station, at their convenience.

The Mayor also updated the new members on the status of the Town's current and recently completed projects.

Anger can lead to family violence

Family violence is something which exists in all of our communities and it is important to recognize that it is actually happening, and what we can do to prevent it.

Anger: this is one five-letter word that can raise different reactions and feelings in all of us. We may get images of people "exploding," "blowing up," or becoming aggressive. We may also imagine someone "hiding" or "stuffing" their angry feelings and letting them build up inside them. Individuals feel differently about their anger depending on their past experiences, education and how they prefer to resolve disagreements.

What is normal and healthy anger? Feeling angry can be a sign of many things. Some of these may be that, for example, our needs and wants are not being met, that we are not dealing with things which are bothering us, or that our values and beliefs are "under attack." Just as pain tells you that you must take your hand off a hot surface, feeling angry tells you that something is not quite right for you.

Our anger can be directed at others, at ourselves, or at "life" or general conditions around us. How different people might deal with anger is suggested in the following example. Three people, Sue, Larry and Ken, applied for a promotion in their company. Sue had worked really hard in her job, and was expecting the promotion. When someone else received the promotion, she became very angry at herself, blaming herself for not doing a good enough job. Larry became angry with a coworker who received the promotion, because in Larry's eyes, this person was "lazy." Ken dealt with it by becoming angry at his supervisors and the world in general, for not recognizing the important educational upgrading he had just completed.

Most people can sense they are feeling angry, by physical changes in their body. This can include feeling hot or flushed, getting tense muscles, having faster heartbeat and breathing, feeling shaky or "seeing red."

Each person deals with their angry feelings differently. How do you handle disagreement? Do you use criticism? Sarcasm? Or do you blame others? Maybe you withdraw, hold in the feelings, or feel badly about yourself. Another person might use verbal putdowns, threaten, or try to control others. Perhaps you yell, throw things, break objects, or hit other people.

When a person becomes aggressive or abusive, it is a more serious problem.

The first step to learning to deal differently with anger is to accept that it is O.K. to feel angry. The feeling of anger is a normal reaction that everyone has. If there is a problem, it usually lies with how you cope with it and how you express it.

So once you have admitted you are feeling angry, can you figure out what you are angry about? If you feel angry at someone, then it makes sense to go to them about it. All the talk in the world with your best friend about your boss won't help you resolve a disagreement you have with your boss!

Let's say that at the time you're just too upset to actually talk about it. You are fearful that you will blow it out of proportion or express it too strongly. These are the times we need to take a time-out, like a walk, a bath, listening to the stereo, or anything else that will help you settle yourself. Other examples might be counting to ten backwards, taking deep breaths, or picturing yourself in a calm, relaxing place.

Once we feel more in control, then we can go back and talk about it. Some people find that keeping track of their anger in a journal, diary, or notebook is helpful. These notes can help you to identify the changes which happen in your body when you are angry, what the situation was about, and what skill you did use or could have used to deal with your anger.

The idea is for you to look more closely at what the actual cause of the anger was, to find any patterns or events that tend to trigger your anger, and to determine what coping skills work best for you.

For someone who has become abusive or violent, the problem runs much deeper than just learning how to control your anger. A change will be needed in unhealthy beliefs and values systems such as "it's OK to hit others," "I have the right to be in control of someone else," "they deserved it," "a man is supposed to be strong and aggressive," "it wasn't really that bad," "it's no one else's business but my own what goes on behind closed doors," and other similar beliefs that the individual may have that allows them to continue with their abusive ways.

Changing your pattern of dealing with anger is a process that is often helped when you have support. Therefore, working with a group of people with similar goals is often helpful.

Family violence is a concern for everyone. There are many different aspects to family violence, and anger management is only one of them. But

So we could be free Leaping back to the Dark Ages

Brave soldiers fought; brave soldiers died.
Mothers prayed and children cried.
The war raged on and thousands paid
Sacrificing their lives and plans they'd made
So we could be free.

Poisonous gas drifted through the air;
This unseen killer settled everywhere.
The planes dropped bombs and cities burned.
The artillery shot and their fire was returned
So we could be free.

In silence we bow our heads and pray
To pay tribute to our dead today.
On our collar a poppy is worn
To show remembrance of sacrifices borne
So we could be free.

- James Purdy

Commentary

1. A drunk is let off after swilling booze and dope for 30 hours then beating his wife to a pulp.

2. A drunk is let off scot-free after sexually assaulting a disabled woman - "Oops! I was drunk! I didn't know what I was doing!"

Both activities excused and condoned by judges in our courts! How many years backward are we leaping? These are the excuses used back in the dark ages, in the pre-dawn of civilization! Back when women were considered to have been let loose on the earth for the whims of men, to be punched, kicked, beaten, tortured - yes, and killed if the brute so desired, with no hand raised against him.

After all - if she were a wife, daughter, mother, sister or boughten slave, she was his property, to do with as he pleased.

What pig manure!

And now we have the courts - high courts, at that - not some J. P. with a grade four education - condoning such activities. What giant steps backward we are asked to make!

Anyone who drinks alcohol or takes 'recreational' drugs does it for the express purpose of altering their mind, of changing their personality, their sense of responsibility, their sanity.

Some are content to merely addle themselves, most of the time, to become a little stupid, less responsible, less caring. Others go for whole hog, pig-out, puking drunk. Whenever they can. At which time, these addle-brained drunks do all sorts of things they might not do, if sober.

The act of lifting the mug, jug, bottle or glass to their face for even the first drink, is a tacit agreement with themselves and the rest of the world that they are in the process of becoming an irresponsible moron, sans reason, caring or morals (if they down the right amount of hooch) and I say this is a deliberate choice.

The very idea that these semi-demented, self-addled booze swillers should not be held responsible for their drunken actions is ridiculous! Any judge, or court, that rules that a drunk is not responsible for his insane, brutal actions while drunk, is about as guilty of these crimes as the booze-swiller, and certainly no fit person to be ruling on crimes in our land.

Shame, shame, shame! This "the Devil made me do it" excuse, this "I was too drunk to realize I shouldn't throw my kid out the window," hung-over whine was used down all the centuries (and was accepted for goodness' sake!) until only these last few decades.

Ever since the first "pig" found some rotten grain in a crock, way back in the beginning of time, and gobbled it down, thus becoming inebriated, drunk, soused - and with the controls most of us are born with knocked out - drunks have been rampaging around, beating on anyone smaller or weaker, to satisfy some deep, ugly instinct to batter other people.

Not responsible? Of course they are responsible! All the way from the first sniff of the brain-addling, sense-muddling booze, to the act of brutality released.

Such actions as were "excused" by these so-called "justice" officials are completely inexcusable, and should be severely punished - along with the 'friend' who helped the perpetrator get the liquor.

As for the judges, kick them out, as incompetent, immoral and without the sense to tie their own shoelaces.

Ambulance Service ends

To The Mayor, Town Council
Town and area Residents:

Please be advised that Elk Point Ambulance will cease providing ambulance service to the local area on November 7, 1994. It is with regret that I have been forced to make this decision after serving this area since February 1984. As we are all aware of the tremendous cutbacks on the health care system, I am unable to continue at a loss.

I have contacted Alberta Health, Elk Point Hospital Administrator and Dr. Ramful explaining my situation and my decision. I have also given my staff written notice of my decision. I will also print this letter in the Elk Point Review to inform the area residents of the situation.

On the interim I will provide dispatch, dispatching the nearest ambulance as required, allowing the mayor and council time to secure an ongoing ambulance service for the area residents.

The ambulance which is based in Tullibly Lake and which serves Frog Lake, Fishing Lake, Onion Lake, Heinsburg and area will continue to provide uninterrupted service for the area residents.

Should anyone have any comments or questions please contact Fred at 724-4082 or 724-4040 anytime.

Thank you for understanding my situation and decision as I do this with great regret and sadness.

Sincerely,
Fred Lambright

The Family Forum

Jim MacLellan

Recently I read this definition of a healthy family. It went like this:

Recognizing that there are many units which constitute a family, in the province, if a definition of a healthy (ideal) family were offered, it would be as follows: A healthy family is a situation where a husband and wife live together in harmony under the same roof. Harmony is not just the absence of strife but an interaction of caring, sharing, communication, learning and growing. Other family units (i.e. single parents) can function as well if support from the larger community can be accessed.

This correspondence went on to say what families need to remain or achieve "health." It went like this:

Healthy families require basic needs to be met (e.g. spiritual, physical, psychological, mental and emotional). They require relationships based on honesty and trust. A healthy family needs support and security.

Is your family HEALTHY? If not, why not access the "larger community?" When your family is healthy, our community is healthy. We have support programs, churches, activity programs and friends that will do just that!

Pure country sound

Their sound and their message are as pure as the Crystal River they take their name from. Cliff Quist of Lloydminster, along with his dad Sid and children Lesley, Jill and Shane, provided their Elk Point audience with a real treat Saturday evening, ranging from contemporary country sounds such as "You've Got To Stand For Something" and "I Won't Take Less Than Your Love" to an old time gospel song, "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" interspersed with a recitation, "Dad-dy's Table Grace." Cliff and daughter Jill, 16, provided the lead vocals for this family group, while Cliff's wife and mother ran the soundboard.

Elk Point's Sherry Oszust was a guest soloist, highlighting her performance with her powerful rendition of "The Lighthouse."

Music apparently runs in the Quist family. Cliff's brother Kevin heads another family band at High Level. Tapes of both bands were sold at the concert.

COUNTRY GOSPEL, FAMILY STYLE - The very talented Quist family, who make up the Crystal River gospel music group, entertained last Saturday in Elk Point. The Lloydminster-based group consists of (left to right) dad Cliff, daughters Lesley on bass guitar and Jill on keyboard, son Shane on drums and grandpa Sid on the steel guitar. Mom and Grandma run the soundboard.

BEGINNING TO LOOK LIKE CHRISTMAS - Three of Elk Point's businesses took an early jump into the Christmas season last weekend, holding special sales events for those who like to wrap their shopping up early. This charming Santa and angel were among the huge variety of gift ideas at 'In Days of Olde.' Millie's Flowers and the Elk Point Review held a joint open house for early shoppers.

RCMP, aboriginals share common ground

Improved relationships and increased mutual understanding was the goal of the "Sharing Common Ground" workshop held Wednesday, November 2 at Frog Lake School with over one hundred participants in attendance. RCMP officers from Elk Point, surrounding detachments and Edmonton met for the day-long session with junior and senior high students from the school, representatives of agencies dealing with aboriginal people, and members of the Frog Lake Band and Fishing Lake Metis Settlement.

Interaction and communication between the RCMP, agency representatives and the area residents was a priority for the day, which featured speakers on a variety of topics. The morning started with pipe and sweetgrass ceremonies and the Lord's Prayer, followed by Sgt. John Humphrey, who outlined the purpose of the workshop. Sessions on community-based policing, aboriginal policing, understanding the original role of the RCMP, the aboriginal summer student program and the ride-along program made up the balance of the morning's agenda.

During the lunch break, spirited entertainment by singers, dancers and drummers followed a traditional meal of stew and bannock.

The afternoon started with a panel presentation answering questions on youth concerns, followed by a session on the youth justice committee, information on family violence and mental health programs, and an open forum. The day concluded with a closing ceremony and round dance.

Sgt. Humphrey felt it had been "a basically good day, with time for interaction between the presentations."

Interagency explores violence

Elk Point Interagency Committee's November meeting last Tuesday focused on a timely special presentation on family violence, presented by Billie Milholland, who recently attended a conference on Family Violence in Immigrant Families.

There are four preconditions for abuse, Ms Milholland said. The first is the motivation to abuse, which we all have but most do not act on. The second is internal barriers, such as a one's moral code, religious convictions and conscience. It was noted that these can be overcome by such factors as drugs and alcohol. External barriers, the third precondition, include time, place, and safety measures, such as lights. The final one is victim resistance, and Ms Milholland noted that by that point, "the momentum is so huge, it is difficult for the victim to resist."

Ms Milholland then explained the concept of traumatic bonding, which is used to help explain why people remain in abusive relationships. It is believed that a very strong attachment occurs under the conditions of intermittent maltreatment. There is a power imbalance in the relationship, under which the victim feels more negative and more dependant on the person with more power. Intermittent abuse alternates with periods of calm, and the victim "never knows what to expect and is kept off kilter."

The cycle of violence, with 'honeymoon' periods dissolving under tension buildup, which escalates into episodes of violence, repeats itself with the honeymoon periods shrinking into apathetic interludes of "more or less peace" and violence getting more intense.

Ms Milholland noted that it is even more difficult for new Canadians to reach out for help, due to language and custom barriers. They may even stop relying on their religious contact for help, and may develop a feeling of isolation.

Reports from Terri Ehlert showed very positive response to the International Year of the Family's First Night celebration, with lots of input from local groups and donations for fireworks coming in.

Linnette Newby reported that she hopes the St. Paul and Elk Point Interagency committees will cooperate on a newspaper insert focusing on the family unit, with funding to come from the County FCSS program.

Updates from the various participants showed Billie Milholland working on a project putting together literature for people who have difficulty reading, on topics such as family health. Rev. Norm Hartley reported that the United Church was hosting a turkey supper. Verona Lea Flanders said Further Education is working on their spring course calendar. Darlene Kozicky reported the Adoption Resources group is having workshops on physical and sexual abuse, and will be having mall displays.

Linnette Newby said the County FCSS is focusing on Family Violence Prevention Month, with a variety of activities including a dinner theatre with revenue going to the Crisis Centre. The County Board of Education has adopted zero tolerance to violence, and has started a pilot project in one community.

The Host Family Program is having training programs, AVC will start a program in January for people experiencing multiple barriers to employment, Social Services is working in conjunction with AVC on a variety of programs, and the Crisis Centre is doing presentations in Westlock and Mannville, plus having a bake sale at St. Paul Co-op. Straight From the Heart is focusing on the non-use of tobacco, and finds it good to see young people taking interest.

Terri Ehlert said that Parent Nursery has daytimers available, and that FCSS will be having Family Violence Prevention Month proclaimed by Town Council. Muriel Holthe reported that floor curling and carpet bowling are both underway at the Pioneer Circle, as is whist. Lois Sheplaw reported a great response to the flu vaccine clinics, with an increase of 125 people receiving shots this year. Pastor Jim MacLellan reported that Elk Point Baptist Church was sponsoring a country gospel concert November 5.

The next Interagency meeting is set for December 6 at 11 a.m., and will include a potluck lunch.

The War Amps believes it has a responsibility to warn younger generations about the true horrors of war. Who better to recount the battles as they really happened than the veterans who experienced war firsthand? PARTICIPATION

Help solve a murder

Denise Smereka

FGM Librarian and Program Coordinator

Brad Larson was in his final year of high school. He was a 17 year old who was on the wrestling team and looking forward to a scholarship for university. The night before his wrestling match for the provincial championships, Brad went to the movies with his girlfriend. When the movie was over, the lights came on and Brad didn't get up...

WHO DUN IT? Was it his mother? his stepfather? his girlfriend? his ex-girlfriend? his science teacher? or his rival on the wrestling team? Step into the shoes of the detective and come and join us at the F. G. Miller High School on November 15 and 16 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. in Lab 12 to take part in the Alberta Science Foundation's Forensic Science Program.

The fictitious program entitled Rigor Mortis in Row Six will be running throughout the week of November 15

Science
Alberta
Foundation

through 18 for Grades 6 through 12. The murder / mystery module was put together by the Science Alberta Foundation with the help of the office of the Medical Examiner of Alberta, the RCMP, the Calgary Police Service, and the Calgary Courthouse Education Program. It is a hands-on program designed to encourage teens and adults to develop investigative and analytical skills. It was also designed to promote careers in science and forensic science. The goal of the two-hour program is for the participants to conclude (using means, motive and opportunity) who committed the crime "beyond reasonable doubt." Seven stations of evidence: Scene of the Crime, handwriting analysis, documents, Medical Examiner's Office, fingerprints, impressions, and ink analysis are all the participant needs to solve the crime. A student from each class that participates (Grades 6 to 9) will be eligible to win a murder / mystery book sponsored by the R. E. Beattie Library, and the game "Clue" sponsored by the F. G. Miller Students' Union. Everyone who participates will be eligible to enter their guess and name for the "How to Host a Murder" game, Star Trek Edition, sponsored by 2M Resources.

Special thanks to Krista Seward and Ilona Schade for all their help in the preparations for the week, 2M Resources and the Students' Union for sponsoring prizes. Thanks are also extended to all those in the community who have volunteered to help with the program.

So... pull out that old Sherlock Homes hat and magnifying glass and spend November 15 and 16 with us in Lab 12 to discover who committed the murder of Brad Larson.

Kelly Oszust

F. G. Miller High School Reporter

This past August, the Oszusts had a new addition to their family: an exchange student from Germany - Ilona Schade.

Ilona is sixteen years old and comes from a medium size family which consists of both her grandparents, her one brother and her parents.

Ilona lives outside a beautiful town, Bad Wildungen. Bad Wildungen is a health resort and many tourists go there.

She goes to school at Gustau Stresenann Gymnasium. She says that in Germany they have no lockers, so they carry their books around all day. Ilona thinks that school in Germany is much more difficult than in Canada, so she likes going to school here because it's easier.

Ilona likes Canada because she thinks that the people are very friendly. She says that the language is easy to understand, except when people talk too fast.

What she finds the most different in Canada is the countryside, the size of towns, and the way in which the houses are built. In Germany, there aren't any trucks, except to haul goods. She was surprised to see that in Canada many people drive them.

When asked what she likes most about Canada, Ilona stated, "I like the sky, because I think that the Northern Lights are very beautiful, and in Germany we don't have them."

On November 20th Ilona goes back to Germany, and on February 25th I go to live with her for three months. I am looking forward to going. I think it will be a great experience and a lot of fun.

ILONA SCHADE - is a German exchange student who is presently attending F. G. Miller High School.

District overview

It's November, and all the 4-H clubs in the area are getting underway for another busy year. Here is a quick run-down on the clubs and their leaders.

ELK POINT MULTI CLUB has Lorraine Danyluk (724-4317) as overall leader, assisted by Chris Havener. Ray Danyluk will lead the Steer Project, and Trent Davie the Heifer Project. Weigh Day is November 20. There is also a new Crafts, Cooking and Sewing Project, with Cheri Lindquist as the leader and Hildegunde Naber as her assistant. Mrs. Danyluk said the members have lots of enthusiasm, and if there is anyone out there who wishes to lead another project, they would be welcome to do so.

ELK POINT SADDLE SLICKERS are reorganizing on November 16, with Ruth Purdy (724-3078) as General Leader. New members would be very welcome.

ST. PAUL MULTI CLUB held their Weigh Day last Sunday, with 22 members out, according to Dorine Kuzma (645-3674). They were meeting last night for the first time, and were to determine their leaders for the year at that time.

ST. PAUL LIGHT HORSE CLUB was also meeting last night, and Joanne Fontaine (645-2452) expects about 18 members this year, including several newcomers. They are also going to have a former 4-Her as a resource person to help with the year's program.

Health Authority update

The Lakeland Regional Health Authority is pleased to announce the long-awaited decision regarding area clusters. The area clusters are an administrative model and will not restrict patient flow or shared services in any way. As with all decisions of the Regional Health Authority, it will be reviewed and evaluated as time progresses and modifications will be made if necessary. The area clusters are:

Area One: Fort Saskatchewan, Lamont, Radway, Redwater, County of Strathcona.

Area Two: Vegreville, Mundare, Willingdon, Two Hills.

Area Three: St. Paul, Myram, Vilna, Smoky Lake.

Area Four: Bonnyville, Glendon, Cold Lake, Elk Point.

Area Five: Lac La Biche.

The Authority is continuing the consultative process through a series of meetings with facility Chief Executive Officers and Boards. The aim of the meeting is to identify duplication of services, gaps in service and to have facilities propose specific cost-cutting strategies.

Rural Hospital Association Conference

Regional Health Authority members had the opportunity to attend the recent conference in Red Deer. All of the speakers and sessions were aimed at health reform and the considerable challenges facing both the existing boards and the Regional Health Authority. There was an underlying message of hope. With mutual respect, honest communication and a shared vision, health reform is possible in a humane and rational way. It was an extremely beneficial conference.

What's News at the Library?

Books, Books and More Books!

Michele Duczek
Librarian

The snow that greeted us on November 1 was not a great way to greet a new month. At least it held off until after Halloween. I feel a little Christmasy right now but I'm sure it will wear off after a few days of slipping and sliding my way down the hill.

Books, books and more books are arriving weekly. This week's selection is highlighted by Touching the Earth by Roberta Bondar. One of Canada's astronauts in the NASA space program, Dr. Bondar flew on the shuttle in 1992. This book is an account of her trip and an exploration of the changes time, nature and humans have brought upon the earth. Included are photographs of the earth taken by Bondar and others from space. Two that caught my eye were shots of the Aurora Australis, the southern hemisphere's version of the Northern Lights.

The Gilded Ghetto by Calgary journalist Sidney Sharpe examines the Canadian political scene and reveals that politics in Canada is still very much a man's world. Many noted female politicians tell their stories in this book including Barbara McDougall, Sheila Copps and Audrey McLaughlin. Sharpe also tackles the very real problem of sexual harassment on Parliament Hill. This book raises issues of interest to men and women.

W. P. Kinsella's latest book is another collection of tales about his characters from Hobbema. This one is called Brother Frank's Gospel Hour and, as the title suggests, the irrepressible Frank Fencepost tries his hand at radio evangelism in one of the stories.

The library has also received three books in the

How Our Bodies Work series. Each book focuses on a different part of the body and are geared toward children of elementary school age. Plenty of photographs and pictures accompany the text.

Stephen Coonts fans might want to check out The Intruders, the sequel to his bestselling Flight of the Intruder. It is 1973, the war in Viet Nam is over but for crack pilot Jake Grafton the battle is just beginning. Returning home to a bum's welcome, naval aviator Grafton endures a fate worse than death, teaching Marines the finer points of carrier aviation.

YOUNG, Malvina Sophia
On Sunday, November 6, 1994 Mrs. Malvina Sophia Young of Lac La Biche, formerly of Elk Point, passed away after a lengthy and courageous battle with cancer.

Do not stand at my grave and weep;

*I am not there, I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow.
I am the diamond glint on snow.
I am the sunlight on ripened grain.*

*I am the gentle autumn's rain.
When you awaken in the morning's hush.*

*I am the swift uplifting rush.
Of quiet birds in circled flight.*

I am the soft stars that shine at night.

*Do not stand at my grave and cry;
I am not there. I did not die.*

Mrs. Malvina S. Young is survived by her children: Florence (James) Draper of Lac La Biche, Jean (Herman) Maurer of Georgia, USA, Ann (Terry) Hughes of Edmonton, James (Elizabeth) Young of Lac La Biche, Duane (Linda) Young of Lac La Biche; Brother: Carl Carlson of B.C.; Sisters: Audrey (George) Craig of B.C., Evelyn Saranchuk of B.C.; 27 grandchildren, 33 great-grandchildren, numerous nieces, nephews and cousins. Malvina is predeceased by her husband James Young in 1985, Daughter Joyce Stec in 1988, Sister Inez Smith in 1990, Brother Alfred Carlson in 1949.

Prayer Services will be conducted on Wednesday, November 9, 1994 at 8:00 p.m. from the St. Catherine's Catholic Church in Lac La Biche with Rev. Sam Donaldson officiating.

Funeral Services will be conducted on Thursday, November 10, 1994 at 2:00 p.m. from the Seniors' Recreation Center in Elk Point with Rev. Sam Donaldson officiating and interment will follow in the East Elk Point Cemetery. Donations to the Canadian Cancer Society or the William J. Cadzow Hospital (Extendicare).

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that Elk Point has a Family Support Group that provides support to adult victims of sexual, physical and emotional abuse? The Family Support Group meets bi-monthly (the first and third Tuesday of every month) at 7:30 p.m. at the Elk Point Municipal Hospital. The meeting structure consists of creating a safe, trustworthy and confident environment in which participants can share. Goals of the Family Support Group include:

- To help victims acknowledge and empower their healing process.
- To provide confidential support to adult victims of sexual, mental, physical and emotional abuse.
- To identify community resources and how individuals can access services.
- To share and listen among peers; to realize you are not alone.

For more information call Peggy Adomaitis at 724-2380.
